

Thanks for having us, Solar Power International!

SOLAR POWER INTERNATIONAL

For the first time ever, Cachelan attended the Solar Power International (SPI) show in Salt Lake City, Utah!

The SPI show is North America's largest gathering of solar and energy storage, boasting close to 20,000 registrants across North America and the world.

The Cachelan team was thrilled to attend this event – it was great to see familiar faces and to meet new ones.

Here is what we talked to our customers about during the show:

- We heard over and over about frustrations with people's existing monitoring situations & received support: We pride ourselves in that our customers can reach a qualified person who helps to resolve their issue quickly.
While we make sure our SurePoint customers are treated with the highest support priority, some customers want to have a real human pro-actively looking at your sites from the Cachelan office.
Contact us for more info on the new SolarVu Control Center Service today.
- We heard about all of the upcoming storage projects that are slowly becoming incorporated into new projects coming online.
New energy monitoring features coming soon - stay tuned.
- Contact us for a quote for your next solar projects & portfolio.

See you next year at SPI 2020 - in Anaheim, CA!
